THE WESTERN FUNANCIAL CORPORATION .- In the progress and enterprise of the city of Louisville, our attention has been called to no more raiseworthy Institution than the "Western Financial Corporation." This institution was originated by some of our leading and active busness men, and a charter obtained from the egislature at its last session. We have never seen or read a charter so liberal and compre-nensive in all its features as this one. The corporation has a capital of one million doilars, more than three-fourths of which is already taken by men of the most enlarged lusines views. It has the power to transact business as a natural person, discount promissory notes, bills of exchange, loan money on collateral seunities, bny and sell real estate, stocks, bonds. and other mercantile securities. It has also the power under the charter to make advances, as the agricultural and other paranits of the coun ry, according to any agreement between the parties, and to make itself a seneral negotiator for railroad and other companies, for a commissien. Any county court, public or private cor peration can subscribe stock in this financial stitution. In short, it has the power, as it will have the regulations and ability, under the management of its able president, and directory to do any and everything to promote the in-Instrial and other pursuits of the city and country. An examination of some of the leading features of the charter of this institution must commend it to the favorable notice of on merchants and mechanics, and those engaged

We understand the Board have elected as its resident Mr. H. D. Newcomi, one of our ablest and most experienced merchants, who riginated and drafted the charter, and as Cashier Mr. A. O. Nev. Dr. Armltage, an emlnent Bapti-t clergy-nan of New York, officiated in a marriage seree at Rev. Mr. Tyng's church, with which act Rev. Bishop Potter manifested his disapprobation. Dr. A., we further learn, read the Episcopal service made and provided for the marital acrament. The circumstances of the case, as we learn, are these:

sacrament. Incorrementates of the case, as we learn, are these:

At the period alluded to Rev. S. H. Tyng, Jr., called upon the lev. Mr. A., and told him that he (S. H. T. Jr.), was determined to present a case by which the authority of lishop Potter's Pastoral Letter could be amply tested. The young minister said he was determined to try whether a Bishop had the right to prevent him admitting a minister of another denomination to his church when the Bishop himself had permitted a priect of the Greek Church to officiate at an Episcopal altar.

The marriage service above alluded to, and entsequent haternization with ministers of other denominations, have caused many High-Church divines to insist upon the Bishop exercising his prelatical authority, and degrading the young and reiractory minister. Thus far, however, no action has been taken. The Bishop, it is thought, caunot long withstand the deleaf force who are anxions that celesiastical prizibment shall be administered not only for the act of permitting a marriage to be conclus-

A LADY SHOOTS HER LOVER BROWSE HE RELIVES TO MARRY HER—LOVE, JEALOUSY, AND

night, says the Richmond (Va.) Times, September 25th, Mr. R. H. Meade, of this city, but formerly of Alexandria, was shot nearly in front of Mctropolitan Hall, by Mrs. Isabel Oxid.
Both parties had for some time previous been engaged in conducting a drinking saloou in the second story of a building opposite where the difficulty occurred, and, it is said, had been living on very intimate terms. The ball from the weapon used entered the back to the left risici, policeman James Jones, of the Twelth United States, and a private watchman hashened toward the parties, Jones catching the wounded man and the watchman seizing Mrs. Ould by the elbow from behind, while a third party disarmed her of the pistol. When Meade was overtaken by the police he was stooping down to pick up a brick to throw at his assailant, believing that she intended to fire other barrels of the pistol at him. The policeman then turned Meade ever to the private watchman and one or two other persons, who took him to the effice of Drs. Tucker & White, under the Exchange Hotel, where his wound was examined and properly dressed. Policeman Jones took Mis. Ould in custody, and told her she must go with him to the Chief of Police, to which she replied that he might take her where he choose; but before doing so he went with her to her place of basiness in order that she might lock it up, after which they started down to the Chief's office. On the way she begged to see Meade, and was taken into his presence, where a most affecting scene ensued. Rushing forward she threw her aims around his neck, and, with passlonate kisses, called upon him to fergive her what she had done, alleging that his refinal to marry her bad run her will and forced her to the deed. Meade, although suffering from pain, partially returned the care and the returned woman.

why did you shoot me? You say I have ruived why did you shoot me? You say I have ruived? The you have tried to destroy me." Obtaining his forgivenness she gave him one long, deep-toned his, and then, with remarkable composure, turned round and remarked to the policeman, "I am now ready. He has forgiven me, and I care not what will be done with me. Or! would to God that I had killed myself." She remained in the eage all night, and cut Saturdsy was taken before Colonel McEatee, Provost Jadge, but, owing to the inability of the wounded man to be present, the trist was postponed for one month, and the prisener committed to Ca-tle Thunder, in default of beil in the sum of $1,000 for her appearance. Many conflicting rumors being in circulation about the cremmstances which led to the occurrence, in company with another reporter, we sought an interview with Mrs. Ould, from whom the following statement was obtained. About seven years since I came to Richmondiron England: have been married, but am now a widow. Mr. Meande left Alexandria about three years since. I formed his acquaintance after I came there; became very much attached to him, and agreed to marry him, both of us swearing on the Bible that we would never marry any other. The restaurant is mine, but the license was taken ont in his name. I kept nothing from him, and was willing that he should have the last cent, believing that he would be my husband. While he was on a visit to Alexandria, about three weeks after the evacuation, I was, for the first time, informed by some female acquaintance that he was false to me, and about being married to Miss II, a young girl living In Manchester. My wedding clothes have already been bonght. When he returned home I found out from him that what I had heard was true, and from that time we have often quarreled. Finding that I could not win him back, I became reconciled to giving him up, and being willing to make him hap hy had made zp my mind to turn over 15 him my be siness and all I was worth, Intending to be ach. I followed him out into the street and the refer him to go back with me up stairs, as I would be wretched if we parted bad friends. He refused to ro, and started down street, when I became wild and shot blim. I did not know what I was doing, till, just as I dred, I was recalled to my senses by nis saving, 'Oz, Izal, don't shoot me.' Pointing to a bruise on her terchead, she said that she had been told that It was caused by a blow from a brick which Meade had thrown to prevent her from shooting, him again. During the whole of our Interview the unfortunate woman was wringing her hands in the mest despairing manner, exclaiming that she cld incl. want to hart blue, knew he would not apply an against her, and was very anxious to see him again before he was taken to his sweethear's, as she feared she would not be a time to the restainant which her had been sweethear's, as she feared she would not be a time to the same and the restainant which her had been been given from shooting to mend that Mesde, after he was shot, stated that he was lastly if it the restainant which her had been been given from such as a summer of a bout thirty years of age, quite good looking, but with a countenance and eyes which indicate the most devoted toward any one whom she conceived had injured her. Meade is about thirty three years of age, and is said to be fine looking. Ills injuries a are of a very serious chanacter, though not necessarily fatal. England and America will be most interested to learn. When I come down I shall bring my claspatches and journals up to the time of writing you. These will be committed to your care for transmitting to the States. The most important matter that I have acquired relate to the fact that there may yet be three survivors of Sir John Franklin's capeditiou—and one of these Crozler, the one who succeeded Sir John Franklin's capeditiou—and one of these Crozler, the one who succeeded Sir John Franklin's the most suffice till I come down: Crozier and three men with him were found by a consin of Ou-e-la (Albert), Stoo sheak-nuli (John), and Ar-too (Frank), while moving on the ice from one igloo to auother—this cousin having with him his family, and engged in scaling. This courred near Nettenlic (Bothia Fellx Peninsula) Crozler was nothing but "skin and bones"—was nearly starved to death—while the three men with him were fast. The cousin soon learned that the three fat men had been living on human flesh—on the flesh of their companions, who all descreed the two ships that were fast in mountains of ice, while Crozler was the only man that would not cat human flesh, and for this reason he was almost dead from starvation. Tols cousin (who has two names; but I caunot stop to give them now) took Crozler and the three men at once in charge. He soon caught a seal, and gave Crozler quickly a little—a very little piece, which was nearly raw—only one in untiful the three fat men sunthing, for they could well get along till Crozler's like was safe. Then ext day the cousin gave Crozler a little larger place of the same seal. By the judicious care of this consin for Crozler, like life was saved. Indeed, Crozler's own judgment stuck to him in this terribes ituation, for heagied which this consin that one little bit was all he should have the first day. When the cousin tists saw Crozler's face, it tooked so bad—his even all sunk in, the face Currency, Counternations, and Kiting—In the United States we have had several initiated currency eras, and they all have proved disastrons. But our bills drawn on the future were never before so large as they are at present, and felonlous financiering was never so prevalent. Counterfeiting has become a profitable and, we might almost say, a safe business, in which themsands of skillful experts are entaged. Having got their hands in by the patristic labor of counterfeiting Confederate currency, when that uncertain representative of money and still a marketable vaine, they could not bring their consciences so fully under self conrol as to keep themselves tide when a latter algeon could be plucked. INFAMOUS ASSAULT. - The Chicago Republica has given currency to a most infamous assault pon the late Mrs. Richardson, wife of Hon W. A. Richardson, of Illinois. The Chicago Times thus comments upon the brutal affair: Colonel Richardson has seen fit to send as the following telegraphic dispatch concerning the glicul-like attack upon his deceased wate, to which we alluded yesterday: "QUINCY, ILL . Whatever the Cincinnal Commercial may be able to offer in excuse for the original publication of the letter of its Mississippi correspondent, there can be no extenuation of the crime of reproducing it by the Chicago Rappblican. There are half a dozen persons connected with that shameless sheet who knew every allegation of the letter, relating to Colonel Richardson and the late Mrs. Richardson, to be absointely false. And what discloses the animus of the reproduction of the letter by that sheet is the fact that on the morning of its appearance a son of Colonel Richardson called upon the "editor in-chief," secured him that there was not a word of truth in the allegations about his deceased mother; that she had never, during her whole life, been in the State of Mississippi or the city of Richardson dasked him to make a proper correction in that respect. The suswer he got was that no correction would be made by the paper, and none admitted save one that should be considered.

In your paper of the 3d inst., the following panearsh appears:

"By an act of the Kentneky Legislature, passed 25th of February, 1862, school children recessarily passing through a toll-gate ou any turppike in this State, are exempt from payment of toll, going and returning, whether upon horse-tack or in a vehicle."

By reference to the Laws of Kentucky, passed at the December session, 1863 chapter 302, page 69, it will be seen that the law above alluded to has been repealed.

A special dispatch to the New York Heraid from Washington, dated the 4th, says that several Louisians gentlemen were admitted early to day to an interview with the President, and urged their views touching reconstruction in that State. Gov. Wells was warmly sustained by them, and Gen. Canby blamed for the civil disorder and diseatisfaction that reigns throughout the commonwealth. Gen. Saeridan was spoken of in very high terms, and conceded to have confined himself to the discharge of his milliary duties. They represent that permanent order cannot be restored until Gen. Canby's interference in civil matters be decisively forbidden.

MR. JAMES S. SNYDER, LATE OF CHATTANOOMR. JAMES S. SNYDER, LATE OF CHATTANOOgenerating is a smitted so a parence in our house from this date,
JOHN SNYDER & CO.

THE CHURCHES MILITANT .- Mr. Webster WAS ingly opposed to ee separation which tool ce some fifteen or twenty years ago in two -the Baptist and Methodist-because he reded such separation as a weakening of the ments which bound the country together. A cal disintegration, of disunion. How coming rents impressed themselves upon the brain of ay abused him not a little for his opposition am't he right? Hasn't the logic of events estified, and more than justified, his logic? Weren't religious convulsions but the heralds of the civil which followed? Weaken a part of an The attempt at permanent political separa ion having falled so signally and disastrously, Union men have been looking with some interest to see whether the new order of things would be strengthened by a recuion of the different churches. The split in the Old School Presby and Protestant Episcopal Churcher did not take place until the war broke out. Those organizations, to their verlasting credit be it spoken, held firm their oligions as well as civil unionism down to the very moment when the fiery coursers of war red madly into its abveces. The prospects thus far for renewed harmony in the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches we must confees are not very flattering. The Bishops of the m Methodist Church have recently put forth an address which throws cold water upon any reunion, at least for the at present. It ani-madverts upon Northern Methodism as having seeme political, and intimates pretty broadly that its clergy "preach another gospel" from that of the original founders of the church. This has greatly excited the Northern brothren. and their organs 'pitch into" the Southern Bishope in a very lively manner. The New York ethodist-whose name should be changed to Methodist Politician—even threatens them with civil vengeance if they don't behave better. As him without the least ceremony. Mr. Seward's impartial and outside critics, we are free to dedore that the Southern address breathes a much more Christian spirit than the Methodist dces. Take the following as a specimen from one of its editorials:

The policy of conciliation is but an experient. It is already carried to an extent with ment. It is already carried to an extent without a parallel in all history. If it is abused—if the conquered is to be tepald with insult—if loyal churches are to attacked because they have aided the Union the day of its peril, and have given their action to emancipation—there may be a reanction to emancipation—there may be a ction which will be neither pleasant nor co rtable to the heads of Southern Methodis The South has not yet recovered its civil rights and may so act as to protract its period o troversy from religious to political grounds, GREAT OPENING and sounds like an emanation from a 'bloodimagine that the Government is going to enunion and force submission to religious domi-nation at the point of the bayonet? This aiinsion to the "heads of Southern Methodism emacks rather too strongly of cutting off the head for the good of the soul through the grace of God, and carries us back a few hundred years, when points of faith were settled by the Ladies' Furs! State, and enforced by sundry sharp and telling arguments not now recognized as valid or orthodox. We pray these reverend belligerents they profess to wish for isn't achieved in this way Very few sinners even will recognize in it the ring of the metal from the Sermon on the Mount but they will regard it as inspired rather from quite a different source, from a place that chall nameless. Can't these ecclesiastical gentlemen who sometimes talk so pathetically about the divine virtue of forgiveness practice a little of it themselves for the benealt of the world? Can't they forget and forgive a little? Let them turn to Shakespeare, if they don't believe the Bible, and learn what he says about obtaining paydon if strict justice were meted out to fall; ble mortals. In a common quarrel it is rather probable that both sides may be to blame, and This is the way we must do in the State. Can't the Church be as easily reconciled? Dies Christianity make its followers hate each other? nch may of course be said on both sides. I it predent, will it conduce to harmony to say it

In the Episcopal Church there is a rather better spirit exhibited, though there are some who seem disposed to stick it out as long as possible. The Senior Bishop of the church-Hopkins, of Vermont-has issued an adm rable address or circular in favor of re union, which has been generally responde to by the church in North Carolina, Georgia, Arkansas, and Texas, and perhaps in other States. North Carolina delegates have been elected to the General Convention now in session at Philadelphia and it is quite probable the Southern States. The Bishop of Alabama, it is to be regretted, manifests a morose temper He some months ago issued a circular to the Episcopal clergy of the State not to use the prayer "for the President and all in authority prescribed by the canon of the church on the ground that the "authority" referred to means authority; and, inasmuch as there is no lauthority in Alabama, therefore he can't civil authority in Alabama, therefore he can't pray for any! For such refusal the telegraph has he has been arrested by order of Major-General Thomas, and the Episcopal Churches of Alabema ordered to be closed. We regret both the Bishop's transcendental mulishnese and this order of General Thomas. We don't think the General has any right to close the churches because the Bishop prays or doesn't pray for the President "or any other man." We don't beieve the President caree a fig about it, and we hope he will promptly countermand this order. Better leave all such questions to time and the ommon sense of the people. We do not doubt General Thomas's motives, but we think his hilosophy in respect to the order in question at fault. The State cannot, by the genius of our institutions, cross the threshold of the Church and prescribe or prohibit any form of prayer. This is beyond its province. It may e said that the refusal to use the prayer for the President shows a rebellious disposition, and is in fact, a refusal to recognize the authority of the United States. All that may be true, but mless such disposition shows itself otherwise than in properly religious acts the Government, we repeat, cannot touch it without in-fringing principles held sacred by the great resistance to the Government, the question, then, assumes a very different aspect. The cannot plead its cancilty to shield him from the equences of his acts.

We are not trying to excuse Bishop Wilmer. We think he has manifested a very improper spirit, and one not at all fit to be imitated either bile Register apologizes for him upon the ground that the obnoxious circular was issued on the 20th of June last. We don't see that that helps the matter any. There has been an clapse of nearly four months since that date, BOLLE'S PATENT FLUSH-JOINT and the Bishop could in an hour have supplemented his circular and made everything straight if he had been disposed to do it.

If the Bishop is so envenomed that he can't pray for the President of the United States, there is little likelihood that he will endeavor to promote union in the church at large; but we trust that the members of his flock in Alabams are not all actuated by so unamiable a spir-it, not to use a harsher term. Religion has ever been a mighty power in every civilized, we might say in every savage state, either for good or evil, and it has lost none of its influence. Now that the war is over, its teachers ought to use it as an agency of harmony, of conciliation, of "brotherly love." Otherwise they will ere don't incur the contempt of all good men.
It is no time now to rake up religious feuds, or to harp upon technicalities or hurl charges or indulge in recriminations, and the reverend will only harm their cause by such a course.

Mr. Seward evidently has a chord that vibrates to the touch of the humorous. He has just perpetrated a good thing and must be voted a regular brick. Governor Sharkey some days since transmitted to the State Department the pretitution of Mississippi, and hoped it would te "satisfactory." Mr. Seward duly acknowlin duty bound to do, and promised that the esident would give it his prompt attention, tope, and Canada.

COLORDO SCLEDER KILLED BY A POLICEMAN. on Wednesday morning, about 2 o'clock, Corporal Lewellyn Bacon, of company A, 13th colored beavy artillery, at Covington, was shot and killed by policeman E. R. Kennedy, under ored ball going on in a building attached to the old Washingt'n House, on Main street, near Third. The proprietor of the honse requested pert Veger-to ster in occasionally to see that the officers visited the ball room, and, after satstirg themselves that everything was procreesing onietly, left. They had not gone far, hewever, when some one in the ball-room direbarged a pistol. Ken-nedy and lager then returned to where the dancing had been going on, and demanded that wheever fired the pistol give it up. The order colored man and were in the act of examining another, when Corporal Bacon stepped up to the tar and ordered the barkceper to give him his pistol. Upon being handed the weapon, be walked to the part of the room where Ken nedy was standing. Kennedy ordered blm to give up the listel, which he refused to do, and almost at the same moment pointed it at Kennedy and fired. Just as the weapon was discharged Kennedy knocked it upward, and the ball passed over his shoulder and ont through a window. Bacon then clubbed his pistol and struck Kennedy on the head with it, knecking him down. While on his knees, the policeman observed Bacon pointing the pietoi at him again, wherenpon he drew his revolver and fired, the ball taking effect in Bacon's forehead, producing almost instant death. Kennedy surrendered himself to the civil authorities. About ten o'clock 'Squire Benjamin Egleston summoned a jury and proceeded to the Washington House, for the purpose of holding an inquest on the body of Bacon. Here he was met by a white officer of colored troops, who asked him if he would allow the testimony Egleston replied that he would not, and thereofficer. The jury then heard the testimony of Policeman Yager, the only white person who witnessed the shooting. His evidence was substantially as detalled above. The jury brought being shot by E. The election returns are coming in slowly, ad ludicate that the vote for Governor between isher and Humphrey will be quite close. umphrey is probably elected. He was a Brig dier General n the Confederate army. Mr. Poster, the candidate for Judge of the High Court of this district, is, as far as heard from, 200 ahead of his competitor, Mr. Handy. Judge Poster is opposed to receiving the testimony of egroes as competent evidence against white men. Ilis clection is regarded as a great trininph by the party which contends that the action of the Convention freeing the slaves leaves them in the position occupied by free negroes before the war, and that State laws appiv alike to freedmen and free blacks. As fa as heard from two representatives have been ected who are in favor of this construction o the action of the Convention.
